

The Quapaw Tribal Cultural Committee (QTCC) is pleased to announce they are resuming pottery classes and proud to have nationally-renowned artist Jane Osti, Cherokee, teach the classes. To accommodate more participants, Osti has graciously agreed to teach two sets of pottery classes.

Participants will learn how to create unique pieces of art using the slab building technique, creating shields and platters.

Osti's works are drawn from ancient Mississippian culture, prehistoric southeastern woodlands, and mound builders.

- ◆ Professional Artist/Potter since 1991
- ◆ Magna Cum Laude Bachelor of Fine Arts from Northeastern State University in Tahlequah
- ◆ Master of Science Education from Northeastern State University in Tahlequah
- ◆ Well-known extensively throughout the United States for her pottery, receiving awards at Santa Fe Indian Market, Red Earth, and others
- ◆ Second-ever and youngest artist named as a Cherokee National Treasure for Pottery in 2005
- ◆ Works are currently displayed at Smithsonian's National Museum for the American Indian in Washington, D.C.

When: May 23, 2018 & May 24, 2018

10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

~~June 6, 2018 & June 7, 2018~~

~~6:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.~~

Where: New Pottery Building

Quapaw Powwow Grounds

5681 South 630 Road, Quapaw

Classes are free and open to the public and limited to eight participants per class. To register, call Karen Hildreth at the museum at 918.238.3157 or Jean Ann Lambert, QTCC Secretary at 918.238.3100.

