

THREE DAY POTTERY WORKSHOP

Betty Gaedtke, Instructor

“Keeping the Quapaw pottery tradition alive”

Discover how the Quapaws created beautiful pottery during the mid 16th century using only their hands and very simple tools. Participants will start by learning a little about the history of Quapaw pottery and the cultures of those that crafted it, and then get started making their own pottery from clay dug in Arkansas, which gives it its distinctive red and white look. Instead of modern potters' wheels, molds, and paints, students will learn to create pottery using the coil building technique used by Quapaws many centuries ago.
